

UC2. Previewing products

Description

This functionality allows the user to see detailed information about the product.

Roles and permissions

- No restrictions - every public user can use it.

Business logic

- The user can access the product preview from the product list described in the UC1.
- The user must see the following information about every product:
 - Product picture
 - Product name
 - Product price
 - Product size (that may vary for different products)
 - Product category
 - Product highlight - at least one value should exist
 - Product description - comma separated list
 - Product allergy information
- The user must see "Out of stock" label, if the opened product is not available for ordering.
